

The kitchen area is characterized by light wood-grain cabinetry. A long, light-colored countertop runs along the wall, serving as a bar. On the countertop, there is a small potted plant, a whisk, a book, and some dishes. Above the countertop, there are open shelves with jars, a hanging plant, and a book titled "MODERNIST". The countertop is illuminated by a warm, recessed light strip. The wall behind the countertop is a neutral, textured color.

The dining area features a round, light-colored table with four chairs. The chairs have a light-colored fabric with vertical stripes. The table is illuminated by three glass sphere pendant lights hanging from the ceiling. The wall behind the table is a dark, textured color and features a decorative wall sculpture consisting of white circles and lines. The ceiling has recessed square lights.

